Personal Information :

- I have completed my PhD in Buddhist studies (History) from Delhi University in Nov 2018.
- My thesis was well received by the profession and led to a number of high-profile speaking engagements at conferences and other meetings, where practicing Buddhist studies (History) wanted to hear about and discuss my work.
- I am therefore well versed in speaking to large numbers of people, creating and delivering PowerPoint presentations and answering questions.
- I am able to quickly build a rapport with people, put them at their ease and deal diplomatically with any problems.
- I believe this demonstrates my ability to go into new situations and environments, quickly take control and carry out my remit. I have learned through this to coach members of my family, friends and fellow Students.
- I like to keep fit. I run regularly and take part in medium-distance community events. I like listening song to relax and enjoy any reading, this gives me a break from my chosen field of practice.
